POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

The economic, social, industrial and political welfare of California are one—woven together in a close-knit pattern which may well determine the future of the West and the Nation for generations to come!

The author of that sweeping statement is George W. Malone, general manager of The Industrial West, Inc., former State Engineer of Nevada and currently a technical adviser to United States Senator A. B. Chandler's subcommittee of the Senate military affairs committee, investigating military establishments.

Way back in pre-war days, in 1937 and '38, Malone started out to make a searching inquiry into the industrial possibilities of the eleven western states. A brilliant engineer, with a host of friends in key research posts throughout the west, Malone soon confirmed his belief that the Western United States had all the raw materials, all the power, the fuel and the transport facilities to make it the hub of a new industrial empire, greater by far than anything the Eastern seaboard had ever created. And then he started out to sell the West on its own possibilities.

If you visited the World's Fair at Treasure Island in either 1939 or 1940, you may have seen the great relief map of the Industrial West which Malone created—the first pre-view of the New West, which came into physical being when Uncle Sam needed war production in a hurry. It was all there, not in reality, but clearly blue-printed, because one man had a great vision and put everything behind it he could personally contribute, plus all he could beg, borrow, and scrape together. Many corporations, many governmental agencies and many individuals finally contributed to the 1500-page book compiled by more than 400 engineers and technicians in the eleven Western States which Malone is now bringing out to provide a new industrial encyclopedia of the West, but burly Malone—part engineer, part politician, part promoter—put the push behind it and put it together.

Visiting in San Francisco, this week, Malone expressed gratification that his dream has come true, at least during the war period—that California has achieved its destined position as the No. 1 Industrial State of the Nation and that the West's vast industrial potentialities are being tapped. When Malone first started preaching his doctrine of industrial expansion, California was only the seventh state in the United States in industry. Today it is first, but he still believes only the surface has been

Day Nursery Is Established At Campbell

Campbell is fortunate in having a day nursery established for the care of children of working mothers. There has long been a need for such an institution due to the demand for workers in Campbell's two vegetable dehydrating plants and the local canneries as well as other defense industries.

The nursery is being established through the efforts of Mrs. Flora Paul and Mrs. Olive Parysek, a registered nurse, both of whom will be in charge and will direct all of its activities. Dr. W. I. Merrill, Ira R. Abbott, W. H. Van Dyke, Rev. D. H. Baldwin, Santa Clara County Health Board, California Social Welfare department, and many others are cooperating to make this a success.

The sponsors have been successful in securing the use of the Methodist church for the nursery, and the children in their care will be fed at the Campbell Grammar school cafeteria.

All regulations have been complied with in accordance with the war-time nursery program, and permission has been granted by the state authorities to establish the school.

The nursery will open on Monday morning Jan. 4 at 8:00 p. m. Future hours will be determined by the wishes of the parents. All interested parents should call either Mrs. Paul, Campbell 3649 or Mrs. Parysek, Campbell 2065.

Increase In P. O. Receipts Reported by Grim

Postmaster Ira Grim reports that the receipts of the local post office will be more than $1000 over any previous quarter in the history of the office, which is a great jump for an office of this size.

The incoming mails have been as heavy all this week as before Christmas, Saturday and Monday having brought more sacks.

The arrival of letters from points within the state five days to a week late, indicated the congestion in the larger centers.

W. G. McCaughey accompanied his daughter on her return to Stockton where he is spending a few days.

scratched.

"After the war," says Malone, "only new work, new resources and new industries can save us from another disastrous depression. The West can provide them; it cannot only work out its own salvation, it can provide the industrial stimulus for a new America. The engineers—a few of them, at least—have known it for quite awhile; now the men in public office, the statesmen and politicians, are beginning to realize it, and the future for California and the West is brightly illumined."

HAPPY NEW YEAR

There's something sad and irretrievable about seeing the Old Year out, but there's something so gay and provocative about seeing a New Year in that normally we celebrate the twin event in mellow mood, with the dew of yesterday and the sparkle of tomorrow all mixed together in an emotional cocktail which has intoxicated the human race since the first page was turned on the first calendar.

Man was not made to look backward for long, but always forward — to the new horizon, to the goal not yet achieved and to hopes not yet realized. In that, perhaps, lies our greatest good fortune, for when a New Year is born—no matter how difficult the year just gone may have been—we are given a new birth of confidence, new faith, new dreams, new courage to cope with whatever the little gods may have in store for us.

At the start of 1943, even with the din of war drowning out much of the din of the usual New Year's celebration, we have much to be grateful for, much to renew our faith, much to make us happy, despite the tears we may have shed as loved ones went off to induction centers and as our quiet, peaceful way of life was rudely changed during the months just past. We have this to be thankful for — that America is still free and will stay free, because we have learned to shoulder the responsibilities as well as to accept the privileges which are part of our democratic heritage. During most of the year just gone, we tasted bitter defeat — a new experience to our proud America—but having proved that we can take it, we are now dishing it out in such fashion that we can look forward to 1943, confident that if we all do our jobs—and all give the best that is in us—we can win the victory and have peace again in our world.

The New Year will be a momentous year, one of the most momentous in global history; that we know. It will bring setbacks and tragedy; that we must expect. But it will also be the year, we are confident, in which the tables will be turned against our enemies—not necessarily the year which will end the war (although that we may hope for), but certainly the year which will take us far toward the final victory. For that we can truly say, "Happy New Year!"

GOOD LUCK, GOVERNOR WARREN

After the New Year, Governor-elect Earl Warren becomes Governor Warren and takes on the tremendous responsibility of guiding our state through the critical war period—and probably through the equally critical post-war era which will follow. No California Governor in our time will have been confronted with as difficult a task; no Governor in the United States will have as great an obligation to the Nation, for California, in addition to being the pivot of the Pacific war, is turning out more of the sinews of war for the whole country than any other state.

We feel confident Governor Warren will measure up to the job. His first appointments to key posts in the State Government have evidenced that he is determined to put politics aside for the duration and to bring into the public service the ablest men available. Undoubtedly he will make mistakes, for he is human, with the human capacity for error, but they will be honest mistakes; of that we are assured. And on the whole we believe he will make a splendid record; he has the capacity for it; he has the sincerity and earnestness and the driving power which we want in a war-time Governor.

Good luck, Governor Warren. The people of California, regardless of party, believe in you—and are looking to you for leadership.

BATH FOR THE ARMY!

Bathed, shaved, and wearing a new uniform, the Army invaded North Africa! Gradually the stories of this classic of the war are coming together, Major General E. B. Gregory, Quartermaster General of the U. S. Army admitted that the American landing forces in North Africa were the "smartest, nattiest soldiers ever seen there," and that it was so planned.

Major Gregory further admitted in a radio broadcast that the idea was to make our forces appear so smart that natives seeing them would feel this was a magnificent army come to save them from their fate! It must have been the cleanest and most beardless battle in history.

NO CELEBRATING PLEASE!

Did you know there are 100,000,000 guilty Americans! So the Japanese would hold us, if they knew what we thought about them! Leighton Shields, former United States Attorney at Shanghai reveals that "illegal thinking" was the charge on which the Japanese punished J. B. Powell, editor of the China Review.

According to them, it is a crime to hold the thought that the Japanese have no heaven-inherited right to rule all other peoples! This places Americans generally in a ticklish position since we are fighting for men's right to think as they please!

We never knew that sixty old toothpaste tubes would provide enough tin to solder all the electrical connections in a fighting plane! Nor did we know that 40 pounds of their reclaimed metal made the heavy bearings of a tank. We thought it was just an old toothpaste tube!

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

It was the night before Christmas, Thursday night of last week. Early, at dusk, it rained. It rained hard for many minutes and the streets were flooded to the full-gutter stage. The wind blew violently while it was raining. Such weather continued until a late hour. I do not know just when there was a change, but I do know that there was a change. How do I know? Well, it happened like this—

I was asleep, lost in the first depths of slumber, and my mind was busy with dreams—beautiful dreams of the many lovely gifts I had received for Christmas. Like an accompaniment to my dreams, sounds of music played in the distance, but grew closer and louder by the second until I opened my eyes. As I did so the sounds became louder; yes they were so loud I thought they must be coming from the living room, or that proximity. Cautiously I slipped out of bed, completely oblivious of the cold floor, and stood at the bedroom door listening.

My heart was pounding so hard with excitement that it was difficult for me to grasp the situation for a second or two. I was not frightened—I was thrilled. I was thrilled with happiness and joy and gladness, for the sounds that were flooding our house at the midnight hour of Christmas eve were melodious harmonies of carols, Christmas carols, sung, as I later was told, by carollers, members of the Campbell High school a cappella choir. A flood of emotions welled up into my throat as I stood there listening. I could not have spoken a word if my life had depended upon it.

As silently as they had entered our yard thus did they depart, but the heavenly music of the carol they had selected to sing, "Joy to the World," is yet ringing in my heart. I rushed to the window to try and determine who they were and the moon was shining very bright. The night air was soft and filled with their music as they went on their way to another home. "Joy to the World" is my New Year's wish to EVERYBODY!

A NEW YEAR WISH

We are in receipt of a letter from James Gardnes, U.S. N., now stationed in Oklahoma in which he asked us to wish everyone in Campbell a very happy New Year. James is very homesick for Campbell stating that we don't appreciate California until away from it. He says even Campbell alone beats the whole state of Oklahoma, the only state where you can be up to your neck in mud and still get dust in your eyes. He will go to Chicago in January to get four months extra training for his teaching.

Orchard City Grange

A meeting of Orchard City Grange No. 333 was held in I. O. O. F. hall in Campbell Dec. 22, 1942.

Visitors were Louis Hughes master of Mt. Hamilton Juvenile Grange. Mr. Stone, master of Mt. Hamilton Grange and Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of Stockton. The Grange has gained one member by demit from Correlitas Grange in Santa Cruz county, Mrs. Lottie Gregory.

Newly elected officers of the home economics club are Mrs. Robert Lear, chairman; Mrs. J. R. Lock, secretary; and Mrs. Leone Keesling, treasurer.

During the lecture hour presided over by Martin S. Walsh, a musical program was given by the pupils of Mrs. Virginia Rutherford.

Piano numbers played by Luella Rice—"Hunting Song" and "March of the Wee Folk," by Maryalice Grim—"Silent Night," and "Valse Petite," and a duet with Mrs. Rutherford, "Tearose." Robert Wellington played "Wayside Chapel." Miss Josephine Barbano sang "Away in the Manger," and "O Holy Night," and Miss Livingston sang "White Christmas." Both soloists were accompanied by Mrs. Rutherford at the piano.

Rev. Joseph H. Bennett of the Congregational church gave a very interesting talk on the reality of Christmas; its meaning to every human soul. He portrayed the ideal situation in the ancient Roman world at that time that made so effective the birth of Christ and the coming of Christianity.

A stereopticon was given on the Birth of Christ by Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Elder of the American Sunday School Union.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Lear. Decorations were made by Mrs. Hazel Wilson and Mrs. Helen Hughes.

Installation of officers of Pomona and subordinate granges will be held at the Almaden school Jan. 2 with pot luck dinner at 6:30 p. m. At the next meeting of Orchard City Grange, Jan. 12, the lecture program under the direction of Mrs. Nellie Rutherford, will be dedicated to all grange members or relatives of grange members who have gone into the service of their country.

FRANK SMITH who pitched a few years ago for Cincinnati in the National League, was reared at Tarboro, North Carolina, and began playing baseball there. He became the baseball idol of his fellow-

Tarborians, and when George Leidy, later manager of the San Antonio team in the Texas League went to town to lure the young phenomenon into faster company, the whole community showed their resentment very decidedly, because with their pitcher gone the home team would go to pieces.

"I was in my room at the hotel," said Leidy, telling about it, "when a dozen husky, determined looking citizens walked in and told me that Frank Smith was going to stay right where he was and that if I wanted to go on living I'd better catch a train leaving for the North at 7:30 o'clock that night."

"What did you say to that?" asked a listener.
"I told them," said Leidy, "to go to thunder. I told them that I was a free-born American citizen and that I would stay there a year if I wanted to. I told them in so many words that they couldn't bluff me. I told them that I would die in my tracks before I would show the white feather—and I was down at the depot at a quarter of seven, waiting."

"Before the war Flight-Lieut. Hetherington was with the Midland Bank at Newcastle."

"Acting Flight-Lieut. Hetherington during the recent intense air activity over Malta, led his flight with great skill. Many attacks on the island have been frustrated and 16 enemy aircraft destroyed.
